MICRO PIGMENTATION

Semi-permanent make-up is not aimed at the effects same as cosmetic make-up. The current trend of semi-permanent make-up is developing for making natural beauty for the bare face. In the 21C high-tech era, we seek techniques that do not hurt the skin, do not occur discoloration, and induce less risk. We would like to share our knowledge with our students in order to give the freedom of expression, health, hygiene, healing, and beauty to more customers

★ Feathering

A technique that gives the illusion such as each hair is alive. It creates a wavy, feather light and soft feel (elegant look) eyebrow. The feathering technique creates clear color tone on skin, therefore it is suitable for anyone. However, it requires very high level of delicacy.

(Embroidery)

Microblading

Technique comes from China.

The hand work gives natural-looking eyebrow appearance as if the eyebrow was grown naturally. It gives the appearance of a straight hair-line. It is possible to master quickly and the price is inexpensive. Due to the depth of this technique, there is a high chance of discoloration and color might be turbid.

Many types of Semi-permanent make-up techniques

Combo

(Pastel + Embroidery)

Using both pastel technique and embroidery technique.

Due to the combination of techniques using embroidery curls on top of the pastel, It causes skin damage and may double the discoloration.

Pastel

(Gradation)

The appearance of eyebrow filled with eyebrow shadowing and shading.

Pastel technique involves scratching the skin quickly, so it may cause bleeding with the possibility of discoloration and looking smeared. Pastel technique gives off the feeling of wearing make-up on bare skin on the face.

How to correct selecting of pigments

Choose pigment factors after checking whether they are developed in FDA laboratory or not Choose the pigments that present the expiration date and the unique number.
Choose the pigments that display all of the ingredients.
Check whether the ingredients are harmless to the human body.
Pigment blending techniques can reduce the possibility of discoloration.

How to choose device properly

Choose digital devices approved by the food and drug administration, all-in-one needle and disposable products that can be discarded after a single usage.
A friend chamber made of stainless is easily disinfected which is desirable. Also, choose the needles and caps can be replaced with disposable product. Choose the device that the company name and the unique number are exactly presented. (Check out whether A/S is available or not)

MEDICAL-MICROPIGMENTATION

This education system brings the techniques to cover up customers' concerns on the body by using the feathering techniques. Regain your confidence and self-esteem. Medical Semi-permanent Make-up (Medical SPMU) Techniques, as one of the Micropigmentation skills, is a prospective field with full of opportunities. The Medical SPMU will bring fantastic results beyond expectation. Professional Camouflage Techniques can improve medical conditions to very close to the original skin color. As a result, Medical SPMU Techniques physically and emotionally satisfy women who lost areola because of breast cancer surgery by making it to be pigmented.
